Regulation of Methods of Dealing.

The tobacco buyers and dealers of Flemingsburg have organized a society and incorporated it, the same to be known as the Flemingsburg Tobacco Association. The purpose of the organization will be the regulation and its members will be subject to such rules and regulations as the organization may adopt.

The corporation will run for a period of twenty-five years and the limit of indebtedness will be $50. A board turn will elect a president, secretary and treasurer. The incorporators are Farker, Mark Hendrix, M. C. Saunders and Preston Parker.

DEAD IN BED

Man and Wife Clashed In Each Other's Arms In Bed At Lexington.

With his arms clasped about the lifeless body of his wife, Fred Berry, 38 years old, a painter, of Lexington, and Mrs. Anna Berry, were found dead early Thursday morning in a room at the boarding house of Mrs.
Joseph Bohannon.

The gas was turned on and burning in both stove and gas jet, which at first led to the belief that they had died from asphyxiation of gas fumes, but Coroner Leigh R. Gordon scouted this theory and believes that the woman murdered the man and then committed suicide.

EBENEZER PRESBYTERY.

An adjourned meeting of Ebenezer Presbytery was held at the Pikeville Presbyterian church with several ministers present. Some business was considered and among other things the application of John A. Sowards, a minister of the Presbyterian church, was considered and favorably passed upon. Mr. Sowards is now a student of Princeton College. Ebenezer Presbytery will meet in regular session at Pikeville next April, and practically all the ministers of its territory will be present. With it will be held the annual meeting of the Woman's Missionary Organization.

HEAVIEST DEATH RATE

Ever Known In Fifteen Days At Louisville—Weird Weather Is Blamed.

(Louisville Times.)

The first fifteen days of January showed the heaviest mortality in the history of Louisville for a like period.
During these two weeks and a day there were 230 deaths reported. If this ratio is maintained for the entire month the death rate for January, 1916, will be greater by about twenty-five deaths than was March, 1914, when 438 persons died. The weird weather of the new year is held responsible by the Health Department for the increased death rate. Everybody is urged to take every precaution to conserve his vitality by getting ample sleep and practicing moderation in eating, drinking and working.

The total number of burial permits issued the first fifteen days of the year was 236. Six were for bodies shipped into Louisville for burial, making the exact number of deaths in the city in fifteen days 230. Health officials are certain this is the heaviest mortality for a like period of time ever recorded in Louisville. If the weather remains cold and settled they expect to see a falling off in the number of deaths to the extent that the total for the month may go below the 400 mark.

When 438 deaths were recorded in March, 1914, the city was in the grip of a serious cerebro-spinal meningitis epidemic that had assumed such proportions that a special isolation hospital was opened to care for the victims of the dread disease. The month was dry, dusty and blustery and came at the end of a severe winter. At the present time the city is entirely free from an epidemic of any sort.
Influenza has returned to normal for this period of the year, although many of the deaths for the first fifteen days of the year show the effects of the influenza epidemic in December, when no deaths were attributed to this malady.

The leading causes of death in the fifteen-day total of 230 are tuberculosis, pneumonia, heart disease and diseases of the kidneys. There were fourteen deaths from influenza. Virtually weakened by unseasonable weather is responsible for the large number of deaths from organic troubles in the opinion of the Health Department. Had weather conditions been more favorable these sufferers might have held on for months.

Two hundred and thirty deaths is about the average number for an entire month in the spring, summer and fall.

THE MORPHETS

Masters of Magic, Melody and Mirth.
Appear Tonight At K. of P. Hall
In Lyceum Program.

During the last twenty-five years Mr. Morphet (pronounced Morfa) has had a rich and varied career as a presenter of the best in the line of popular entertainment. The first seven years were devoted to comic opera, during five of which he was a member of Spenser's Original Little Tyeoon Opera Company, one of the most popular musical attractions of its day.
For sixteen years he was one of the proprietors of the well known Morphet & Stevenson Company, giving the magical part of the entertainment, and assisting in the musical novelties.
He is one of the greatest magicians today.

As a magician and illusionist he is pre-eminent. In feats of prestidigitation (sleight of hand) he is unsurpassed. Indeed, in this particular line he is without equal.

Morphet is an originator, consequently his entertainments are duplicated by others. The ease, skill and grace with which he performs the most difficult feats amuse and mystify, and win the admiration and approval of the most observing spectator.

Admission 35 cents.
